

I'm Himanshi Awal

I want to live in a world where experiential knowledge and learning is valued. As a Learning Partner, I specialise in communication development, attitude and mindset transformation. I excel in helping clients understand their internal motivations, so they can enjoy healthy relationships in their personal & professional lives. Besides being a facilitator, I have worked in personal & corporate branding as a consultant, and been a brand auditor as well as an image consultant. With rich and diverse work experience across the country as well as in UK and Australia, I have worked with professionals from a range of industries, from luxury goods, automobiles and BFSI to F&B and IT industries.

When I'm not busy facilitating sessions, you will most likely find me people watching, delving into the intricacies of psychology, and listening or sharing stories.
