

I'm Anupa Ghosh

As a Learning Partner, I delight in walking with people through their learning journeys. I specialise in using storytelling to clarify concepts and working with aspects of emotional and mental health. My work is known for cutting across differences and offering in-depth insights and solutions. My extensive professional experience across sectors gives me a depth and breadth of understanding an organization's specific needs.

When I'm not conducting a training session, you'll find me reading books and singing songs. I am known among my friends for my wanderlust and need to
