

I'm Saparna Jain

Founder and Creative Director

As a Learning & Organizational Development Consultant, I excel at getting to the heart of organizational challenges. I dig deep, asking questions that deliver deep insight and unearthing underlying issues beneath what's apparent on the surface. With a keen understanding of industry trends and the challenges that Indian professionals encounter, I am known to deliver results that go above and beyond client expectations. My distinctive energy during workshops is known to be infectious, engaging participants and taking them on a deep self-exploratory path.

When I'm not busy being an organizational development consultant, you'll find me heading to the woods for a trek, taking a yoga class or cooking. My friends would tell you that I am highly excitable and rave about my signature ginger tea.
